Report Order Has Been Sent To MacArthur

Future Statements Must Be Cleared Through Washington

(BULLETIN)

(U. S. War Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 26. — (INS) — A high military source said today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been ordered by the joint chiefs of staff to clear through Washington any future statements on political aspects of the Korean War.

The action was reported to have resulted from MacArthur's recent "peace appeal" to the Chinese Communists. Sources said that this statement by the general was not cleared with the Pentagon nor approved by the State department.

In his statement, MacArthur called for a Chinese surrender in the field and implied that the United Nations forces could bring about the military collapse of Red China itself.

Order May Have Been Sent

The Defense department officially would concede only that the order "may" have been sent to MacArthur. This attitude of an official spokesman indicated that the joint chiefs would not have sent a directive on their own initiative or for military reasons.

The spokesman made it plain that any directive to MacArthur concerning peace talks had to come from tremendous pressure on the part of the State department.

Great Britain reportedly is extremely concerned about the general's remarks as they apply to China proper. The British are fearful that any implication of war on Communist China itself might lead to a Red attempt to seize the crown colony of Hong Kong.

In Tokyo, however, MacArthur's statement was greeted enthusiastically. Allied officials there expressed amazement that the State department has failed to support the action, and the Japanese press hailed the general's move.

Psychological Moment

International News Service learned that the UN commander long ago decided he would issue such a statement at what he considered the psychological moment.

Broadcast Gen. M'Arthur's Surrender Call To Chinese

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

(Far Eastern Director, U. S. S.)

TOKYO, March 27.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's call for a Chinese surrender in the field is being placed before Chinese troops in Korea by every available means today while Tokyo debates Washington's apparently cool reception of the MacArthur statement.

It is the view of Tokyo military quarters that the MacArthur document invades no political or diplomatic fields, despite a seeming belief in Washington that it does.

The MacArthur statement, it is felt by those close to the supreme U. N. commander, was phrased with utmost care to keep it within the prerogatives of a field commander.

For Oriental Audience

Tokyo informants also emphasized that the wording of the MacArthur statement was chosen for its greatest impact on an Oriental.

Mao Tse-Tung May Become Asiatic Tito

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

(Far Eastern Director, U. S. S.)

TOKYO, March 27.—A highly placed American official in Tokyo said today that United Nations military success over the Chinese in Korea may force Mao Tse-Tung to become an Asiatic Tito.

He told International News Service the Chinese must be resentful against the Russians for failing to give them enough airplanes, tanks and artillery to fight more effectively in Korea.

He declared:

"It is my conviction that the United Nations now have a golden opportunity to drive a wedge between Russia and China and that this opportunity should be seized with vigorous military action."

Can Achieve Victory

The official, who is not connected directly with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters or command, said the United Nations

City Pupils Back In School After Four-Day Vacation

New Castle public schools resumed activities this morning after an abbreviated four-day Easter vacation.

Monday was the last scheduled day off for city pupils until the end of the term in June. One half-day vacation will be observed on Memorial Day, May 30.

Easter vacation was cut short by making up time lost due to the snowstorm in November.

Teacher attendance in the schools is reported back to normal after an unusually large number of absences due to sickness during the early part of the month.

Public Hearings Loom On Billion Dollar Budget

State Cabinet Officials To Have Starring Roles

By JOHN PAGET

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, March 27.—Precedent-smashing public hearings loomed today for Gov. John S. Fine's all time high billion dollar budget with cabinet officials in starring roles.

Senate majority leader John M. Walker and the rules committee will make a specific decision on the hearings after the governor's budget program begins moving through the legislature.

The tax program may be introduced in the House late this week, according to majority leader Charles C. Smith. All revenue-raising bills must originate in the House.

Supports Public Hearings

Walker made his support of public hearings known last night after a debate over the need for 163 million dollars in additional revenue asked by Fine in the tax program for the 1951-53 biennium opening June 1.

Republican national committee-man G. Mason Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, told newsmen: "I don't see how any tax program but the administration's can be passed."

Democrats, headed by Senate minority leader John H. Dent, have claimed the budget is "larded with fat" and that the one-half of one per cent income tax asked by Fine is not needed.

They contend that the needed money can be raised by re-enacting the 29-million-dollar a biennium soft drink tax, trimming the "fat" out of the budget and enforcing strict economy while boosting the corporate net income tax from four to five per cent and retaining all other existing levies.

Walker said that by public hearings it would be possible to put into the open the true economy desires of state officials.

"Let's call them all in and see what money can be saved," he proposed.

Nine Arrests In Latest Plot In Iranian Capital

TEHRAN, March 26.—(INS)—Tehran police announced the arrest tonight of nine fanatic Moslems in connection with a plot to assassinate Gen. Abdul Hussein Hejazi, military governor of the Iranian capital.

The nine suspects, all armed when arrested, are members of the extremist Fadayian Islam organization responsible for the assassination early this month of Iran's premier.

Martial Law In Oil Areas

In face of the spreading terrorism, martial law was proclaimed in four of the oil-rich southern area of the nation.

The London Daily Telegraph in a Tehran dispatch said that the Moslem organization plotted to kill three others, Sardar Hekmat, parliamentary president, the new premier, Hussein Ala, and an opposition party leader in parliament.

Plot Discovered

Reliable informants said the abortive plot was discovered Saturday, the day before Dr. Abdul Hamid Zanganeh, another assassination victim, died.

Zanganeh, 46, president of Tehran university's law school, and former education minister, was wounded fatally last Monday by a Moslem divine student.

Zanganeh was a close friend of the late Premier Gen. Ali Razmara, likewise assassinated March 7 by a member of the religious sect because he opposed nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company.

State Federation Of Labor Opposes State Income Tax

YORK, Pa., March 27.—(INS)—A keynote of "unalterable opposition" to a proposed state income tax marked the opening session of Labor's 49th annual convention at York.

The PFL's 16-member executive council voiced disapproval of the one-half of one per cent tax proposal yesterday and also opposed enactment of a state-wide sales tax.

An increase in the commonwealth's corporate net income levy was suggested as a means toward acquiring the $163,500,000 in new revenue Gov. John S. Fine has reported will be needed in the biennium beginning June 1.

NEW YORK, March 27.—(INS)—Joseph Anastasio, brother of waterfront czars Albert and Anthony Anastasio, was picked up early this morning by Brooklyn police and held for U. S. immigration authorities in connection with illegal entry charges.

Detectives James Sullivan and Matthew Deane, accompanied by a U. S. immigration inspector, routed Anastasio out of bed at three a. m. According to Sullivan, the Immigration Service had requested he be picked up for violation of immigration laws in 1924 or 1925.

Enemy Is Likely To Make Stand Near 38th Line

U.S. Forces Give Trapped Chinese Chance To Surrender

By LEE FERRERO

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, March 28.—(Wednesday)—Tank-tipped American columns trapped three Chinese Red battalions on Korea's western front Tuesday and ran into outposts of an estimated 90,000 Communists arrayed just south and north of Parallel 38.

An Allied division spokesman on the central front estimated that 90,000 Chinese Communist soldiers were massed in the Chunchon-Hwachon-Kumwha area in front of UN troops pressing north from Chuchon.

The spokesman said 10,000 of the enemy troops were south of the parallel between Chunchon and the Pukhan river while the remaining 80,000 were poised for action north of the boundary.

Seven of eight Allied patrols fanning out from Chunchon rammed up against heavy Red fire well below the 38th Parallel.

Revert to Former Tactics

UN troops reverted to their highly successful "Operation Killer" tactics and withdrew to call down artillery barrages on the heads of the enemy.

On the western front American armored columns trapped three Red battalions numbering about 2,000 men at a point three miles northeast of Uijongbu and 15 miles below Parallel 38.

In another action, west of Uijongbu and six miles below the imaginary border, Americans slashed into a second Chinese force, and killed 350 Reds.

Following the latter battle, an American staff officer was quoted in a Tuesday night field dispatch as saying that the Seventh division of the Communist Chinese 26th Army Corps has been "shattered."

Says Huge Supply Of Opium Marketed By Chinese Reds

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(INS)—Narcotics Bureau Chief Harry J. Anslinger told the Senate crime committee today that the Chinese Reds have dumped a tremendous amount of opium on the world market.

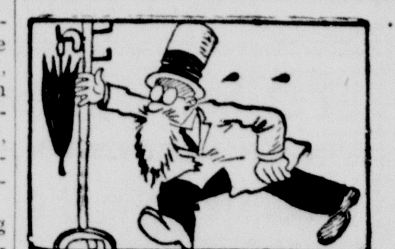

Anslinger also pointed out that many of the top gangsters in the U. S. "dip into the narcotics traffic." He said that 200 of 800 names he had furnished the committee were of men with narcotics records.

The narcotics chief came before the committee as it wound up its public hearings of racketeer witnesses and began hearing recommendations of treasury officials in its final open session.

You can't get mad at the girl called Spring, though at times you're inclined to be sore, for she flirts outrageously all the time, and you always come back for more. The wind may blow and the frost covet and the icicles chill your toes, and instead of the smiles she is famous for, she may turn up with some snows. And you roar a bit at her perfidy, but she's only having some fun, for the very next day while you're still perturbed, she has a date with the sun. So pay no attention to what she does, and cork what you're going to say, she's only a lass with some whimsical thoughts, it's bright 56 today.

DEATH RECORD

Ivan (Shorty) Davis, 82, 504 1/2 Sampson street.
Mrs. Mary Carmina Zarilla, 60, 113 North Wayne avenue.

Street Repairs To Be Started Says O'Leary

Joseph O'Leary, streets department commissioner, stated today he had received word from Struthers, O., that a "hot mix" plant there would open Wednesday, unless weather was unsuitable, and the city would soon receive a supply of material with which to patch paved thoroughfares.

He said that should the plant not open he would put into operation a kettle which is in the department of streets and make his own "hot mix". He said the kettle had to be hauled to various depots, and only a small amount of "hot mix" could be made at one time.

O'Leary reported that one of the city's two graders was operating today in the Seventh ward. The other grader is out of commission. O'Leary said parts needed for it, could not be obtained.

Relative to the mayor's statement yesterday that a grader had been offered to the streets department, O'Leary reported it was in a junk yard, and could not be operated.

He said the streets sweeper operated in the business district last night.

Yesterday during a controversy between Mayor Haven and Streets Director E. Gene Schweinsberg the mayor urged Mr. Schweinsberg to have paved street depressions patched, adding that, unless the work was started this week he would ask council to take over the problem.

Mr. Schweinsberg said material could not be obtained, he did not want to do a half-job of patching until "hot mix" was received from a plant. However, he said he would do all in his power to remedy street conditions here.

HOLLYWOOD, March 27. — (INS)—A total of $325,000 was sought today from five Hollywood notables in a superior court suit resulting from the recent sale of the California County Club.

The complaint, filed by John Montague, once styled the "mystery man of golf," and Mrs. Winifred Kelley, names as defendants actors Fred Mac Murray and John Wayne, directors Frank Borzage and Michael Leisen, and agent Bo Roos.

The defendants, who recently sold the club to millionaire sportsman Sanford Adler for $950,000, assertedly used an option held by Montague and Kelley to buy the place.

U.S. STUDIES REPLIES ON AIMS OF U.N. MEMBERS ON KOREA

Chinese mainland would cause a collapse of the Peiping communal regime is understood to have been ground for reconsidering its publication.

Position Unchanged

Western delegates who inquired of the U. S. about the import of MacArthur's hinted warning to Mao Tse-Tung to talk peace or take the consequences were told that the official American position against extension of military operations beyond Korea has remained unchanged.

An advanced survey of the dozen governments queried on the proposed statement of aims and principles by the unified command—intended as a sort of final bid to Mao to accept U. N. peace overtures—indicates fairly clearly that there is general agreement on tossing the communists out of South Korea while making every effort to negotiate a peaceful settlement on the whole of the peninsula.

The 38th parallel plays no significant role in the picture except insofar as it provides a convenient line along which a demilitarized zone running 20 or 30 miles into North Korea might be drawn as a buffer against the renewal of the shooting war once a cease-fire has been arranged.

impact on the other American nations as a result of the huge U. S. mobilization, production and tax program.

Acheson said: "We must gather up our joint economic forces for the common defense, not only in one country or some countries, but throughout our interlocking economic community."

Acheson also told his fellow foreign ministers great good would come from some action by the conference which would show the world the American Republics are prepared to contribute their just share of fighting men to a permanent United Nations Army.

The lessons learned in Korea," Acheson said, "should enable the United Nations to develop a collective security system that will be better prepared to meet aggression in the future, if it occurs."

Acheson also called for joint action to stifle Communist activity and subversion in the Western Hemisphere, but it was on the economic field he laid heaviest stress.

New York To Spend Billion In Year; No Wampum For Indians

ALBANY, N. Y., March 27.—(INS)—New York state will spend one billion dollars during the next fiscal year but there'll be no wampum for the Indians.

For the fourth time since 1948 Gov. Thomas E. Dewey vetoed a bill which would have permitted the St. Regis Indians of Canada to sue the state for collection of a debt going back to 1796.

On May 31 of that year the state entered into a treaty with the seven Indian nations under which New York was to pay them 56 pounds, eight shillings and four pence annually for expropriated land.

The state finally settled the claim with the Indians living within the state but nothing was done about the St. Regis tribe which moved to Canada and now lives in the village of St. Regis.

German War Bride Ordered Out Of The United States

NEW YORK, March 27.—(INS)—German war bride Ellen Knauff, ordered out of the United States on charges of being a former Communist spy, was arrested in New York today for immediate removal to Ellis Island.

Her freedom in technical custody of her attorney was revoked as the result of a decision yesterday in Washington by a special board of inquiry that she is not eligible for admission to the U. S.

The board which ruled in the famous and long-touted case of the war bride of Kurt Knauff, a naturalized citizen now employed by the U. S. Army in Germany, was appointed by Attorney General McGrath to sift the controversial evidence in the case.

REPORT ORDER SENT TO MACARTHUR

One high non-American in Tokyo said that the statement was a "cold military analysis" of the situation.

In Washington, it was pointed out that MacArthur's statement last week came during discussions between the U. S. and 13 other nations which have troops in Korea.

High-level State department officials gave the Allied governments a statement of UN war aims intended to bring about a new approach to the question of a cease-fire in Korea.

The U. S. today is studying the reply from the Allied Nations. Original plans called for publication of the aims Wednesday or Thursday of last week, but these plans were understood to have been reconsidered in view of MacArthur's statement.

The State department said to feel that the MacArthur statement was a somewhat awkward approach to the problem of negotiating a settlement with the Chinese Reds since it apparently was not based on prior consultations with Allied governments.

In addition, the department reportedly contends that the general's statement was made public before the U. S. itself had determined on a concrete policy on whether the U. S. should be pushed until a unified Korea is achieved.

There is no dispute in Washington over MacArthur's authority to cross the 38th Parallel or the political necessity for unifying Korea. The issue is whether the U. S. should fight on until this Korean unification is actually established.

audience. It is being given to that audience in radio broadcasts, in air-dropped pamphlets and in the air-dropped "morning newspaper" General MacArthur's headquarters publishes for the Chinese soldiers.

Japanese editorial reaction to General MacArthur's bid for peace on United Nations terms has been universally favorable.

The Asahi Shimbun of Tokyo, the newspaper with a nationwide circulation greater than any other Japanese daily, made pointed reference to the failure of the United Nations good offices committee to win acceptance of any one of its six bids for peace, and said perhaps the Chinese now will see the inexorable logic of General MacArthur's statement.

JURISDICTIONAL DISPUTE

PITTSBURGH, March 27.—(INS)—About 900 construction workers employed on the new U. S. Steel-Mellon building under construction in Pittsburgh refused for the second day today to cross a picket line thrown up by AFL Sheet Metal Workers.

The metal workers struck in a jurisdictional dispute with AFL Electrical Workers Local 12 in protest against electricians installing fans in an air conditioning system.

The strikers picketed the project although a statement by J. P. Garvey, Local 12 business manager, said the line was unauthorized.

witnesses before committees was challenged by two Cleveland gamblers.

The historic challenge was made by Louis Rothkopf and Morris Kleinman, alleged gambling partners with interests in six states, who claim the presence of television, newsreel and radio microphones are an invasion of their privacy.

They were arrested under "missing witness" warrants the Senate had voted earlier and held under $10,000 bail each last night. They were ordered to reappear before the Senate Crime Committee Friday.

May Be First Legal Test

The incident may produce the first legal test on the issue of whether televising, broadcasting and newsreel photography deprives a witness before a congressional committee of his constitutional rights by invading his privacy.

The pair emphasized in their protests that they would be "commercialized" unwillingly through the showing of television "in saloons and restaurants" and the showing of newsreels and television in theaters. Both also objected to radio broadcasts.

The committee, who open hearings throughout the nation during the past year have had the prominent, the notorious and the anonymous sweating in the publicity of the witness stand, now faces the tremendous job of doing something about crime.

It can recommend crime-deterrent legislation, or it can write it. It can point to evidence it uncovered that crime is not just a local matter, but nationwide in scope and connections, and it can point up the need for anti-crime vigilance on the part of John Citizen.

Inspection of some of the older trees about the city reveals that a number of the aged shade providers should come down before the summer season is very far along. The trees in some instances have grown hollow and others are too dangerous to let stand. Property owners should make a personal inspection of the trees on their property.

City Recreation Bureau will no doubt have to find a new swimming spot along the Neshannock to replace the one which was taken up by the new Croton avenue extension bridge which is under process of erection. Outdoor public swimming facilities in the city are limited during the summer season, when several hundred youngsters desire to swim.

One year ago today the weather was just like summer, when the mercury rose to a top figure of 81 degrees. Three days later, however, it had dropped back to chilly weather when it never got above 39 degrees. Folks may be assured, however, that spring is just around the corner and can arrive in earnest most any day now. It is expected to be fairly balmy today.

Japanese Woman Judge Learns Of American Courts

COLUMBUS, O., March 27.—(INS)

—One of Japan's three women judges found that the most outstanding thing about American courts today is friendliness.

After a tour of Columbus courts yesterday, 27-year-old Mrs. Aiko Noda, judge of the family court in Tokyo, said:

"In my country I could not meet high officials so easily and they would not be so friendly or talk to us so freely."

Judge Noda sounded like some modern American housewives when asked why she took up the study of law.

She said: "I wanted to be independent. Outside of my family, the way of life was miserable for women in Tokyo. I just didn't want to be a housewife."

Judge Noda and six other Japanese judges are on a two-month tour of the United States. They plan to return to Japan next month.

PEACE OF MIND

No one wishes to think about that inevitable day when certain responsibilities must be shouldered. Yet forethought will make it much easier to have your last tribute beautifully appropriate.

With your final tribute to the one who shared your life, you want peace of mind. So, it is natural that you should think of a water and airtight metal burial vault for protection. Thousands of others before you, have reached this wise decision.

CARRIGAN-GARDNER EASTER CEREMONY

A ceremony performed Easter Sunday united the lives of Miss Esther Carrigan and John Norwood Gardner. The bride, who resides at 16 North Lee avenue, is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Tartler, R.D. 3, Mitchell road, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor James Gardner, R.D. 3, Rosedale avenue, New Castle.

Wedding vows were exchanged at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Biberich of New Wilmington, sister and brother-in-law of the bride. The nuptial background included lovely bouquets of Easter lilies which adorned the fireplace, with Rev. Walter Biberich performing the single ring ceremony at 4:30 o'clock.

A half-hour recital of beautiful wedding selections was presented by Ernest J. Tartler of Chicago, Ill., brother of the bride, who later played and sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The attractive bride appeared in a fashionable navy suit with white accessories, with a corsage of gardenias, snapdragons and lily-of-the-valley completing the picture.

Mrs. John Tartler, sister-in-law of the bride, attended as matron of honor, wearing a melon colored suit with navy accessories. Her corsage consisted of pink roses and white snapdragons. George Victor Gardner served his brother as best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served buffet style at the Biberich home in New Wilmington, with the immediate families entertained at a reception at the same home later in the evening. Mrs. Biberich had also baked the attractive heart-shaped cake which graced the bride's table.

Dispensing with a honeymoon until June, the young couple have taken up residence at 16 North Lee avenue. The groom, who attended Tri-State university, is associated with the Thrift Loan company of New Castle.

LOOKING TOWARD 1952

The people of the United States, and their government, are confronted by the gravest possible problems—war and peace, ever-rising taxes and inflation, more schisms between management and labor, the possibility of having to support a great military force here and abroad for many years, and so on down an almost endless list. But, if this as in the other democratic countries where free elections are still held, such problems never obscure the great old game of politics. So the question of who's going to run for president in unpredictable 1952 is beginning to be a hot topic of conversation among professionals and the rank-and-file alike.

First of all, the feeling is very strong, in both Democratic and Republican circles, that Mr. Truman will not run again. The Constitutional amendment restricting any president to not more than 10 years in the job has been passed and, while it specifically exempts the incumbent, it is an indication of public feeling. Moreover, men close to the president say he has had enough of the job, and that his family, whose wishes he respects very strongly, are fed up with it. Mr. Truman has intimated that he would like to return to the Senate. No one knows if he really means this or not but, if he does, he would have a famous precedent in the case of John Quincy Adams who retired from the presidency and spent the rest of his life as a member of the House of Representatives.

The great question mark is the appealing and somewhat confusing figure of General Eisenhower. As Newsweek puts it, "If Washington is right about Harry S. Truman, there's a good chance that General Dwight D. Eisenhower can get the Democratic nomination for president in 1952 just by asking for it. Quite a few Democrats think he can get it even without asking. . . . Strangely enough, some of the most powerful leaders of the Republican party look like just as desperately as the Democrats do."

In other words, no one knows whether the general is a Democrat or a Republican. A professional soldier has no politics. After he left the army, he gave no public evidence of an attachment to either party. And now he is back in uniform again, so there is small chance of his clarifying his political position in the near future.

Newsweek explains the Democrats' keenness for the general in these words, "The Democratic party is split wide open on almost every conceivable domestic issue. On foreign policy, in contrast, the party is almost completely united. Ike's very vagueness on domestic problems, therefore, makes him an ideal Democratic candidate. There is nothing in his record that could alienate any of the groups which compose the Democratic party: the ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) liberals, the conservative Southerners, the big-city bosses, the labor-union leaders, the Negroes." That is certainly not true of any other potential Democratic candidate now visible to the eye.

On the Republican side of the fence, he has the strong support of such still-potent figures as Governor Dewey. But here he runs into the powerful Senator Taft, who clearly wants the nomination for himself, and who in the view of millions is now "Mr. Republican." The probabilities are that the senator now has the inside track, but many a change could occur by convention time.

One more quotation from Newsweek indicates the odd possibilities: "If the parties follow custom, the Republicans will hold their national convention first. And as things stand now, the choice will be Taft or Eisenhower. . . . If Taft gets it, the Democratic convention may well open with Ike the almost unanimous choice."

TO STOP ENDLESS DEBATE

The proposal of 11 senators for a change in the Senate rules concerning unlimited debate has the merit of placing emphasis on the fact that there is now no agreed opinion on what constitutes a proper time limit for discussion of any single measure.

At present the rules, adopted a few years ago, permit debate in the Senate to be shut off if two-thirds of the entire membership vote to do so. That means that filibustering tactics can be stopped only if 64 members are present and vote for cloture.

But there is nothing in the rules which lays down standards for the duration of debate. The proposal of the 11 senators would remedy this by establishing 48 hours as the time limit after which debate could be ended by a vote of two-thirds of the senators present, and 15 days as the time after which a simple majority could close off the argument.

These particular limitations may be open to objection. But the general idea that there should be some reasonable limit to senate debate, as well as procedures for ending it, merits serious thought by all senators.

Crop production is still up in the air but chances are 1951 will produce a big crop of wild oats.

Spring still produces rains, the rains bring fishworms close to the surface, and so everything works out for the best.

Scientists George A. Moore, McGill university entomologist, says there is a difference between insect bugs and non-bug insects. Maybe so, Prof, but we'll stick to our original plan—swat 'em all!

Public Discontent In Spain

Reports of deep public discontent in Spain and the possibility of serious new demonstrations against the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco are seeping out of censored Spain today and the chances of a real uprising are not discounted.

Francisco has the country in an iron grip of his own fashioning. But he has been compelled to allow the people a semblance of freedom to offset charges by the western powers that his dictatorship is a tyranny fully as throttling as those of Adolf Hitler and Marshal Stalin.

It was for this reason that construction and utility workers were able to stage a strike in protest against the high cost of living. The mutilation of cable dispatches sent by correspondents from Barcelona, where the demonstrations took place, and from Madrid indicate the casualties may have been far higher than the official figures released.

Highly Volatile People

The Spanish people, for all their love of music, singing and dancing, are a highly volatile people. This is particularly true of the Catalan region around Barcelona, always the stronghold of so-called "syndicalists" and sometimes called the birthplace of anarchism.

It also applies to the Basque region, much of whose population refuses to regard itself as Spanish, boasting of kinship with the ancient Celts.

Although he unquestionably maintains a large and heavily-armed police force to keep order in Spain, Franco has been singularly fortunate in escaping demonstrations against him.

Three Factors Against Him

But three factors have worked against him:

- 1—The high cost of living due to food shortages. The increase during the last five years total no less than 700 per cent.
- 2—Scandals involving high government officials. There have been numerous exposures of graft and illegal profiteering in such essentials as wheat, olive oil, cotton, wool, leather and meat.
- 3—Franco's inability thus far to integrate his country with the western European defense set-up, which would make Spain autonomous.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

IF CHILD IS LEFT-HANDED

While I was professor of psychology in a teacher training college, I used to conduct a certain demonstration with the young people preparing to teach. They were instructed to write with the wrong hand, most of them being right-handed. Upon the signal to begin, they were told to write a sentence over and over without pausing to rest for a period of 15 minutes.

The exercise proved very difficult. Some students soon grew irritable. Many revealed cramping of the used hand and contortion of the face. Some complained of aches in their hands, arms, back. They were much impressed with the physical and nervous strain from the exercise.

Pen or Pencil

At the end of the demonstration the students were practically unanimous in their declaration that they were not going to force a pupil to change his handedness. Some of these students maintained, however, that they believed it might not be harmful for a left-handed child to learn to use his right hand with a pen or pencil if he chose on his own free will and accord to do so.

These young students observed, moreover, that writing with the left hand has some disadvantages, since most furniture is made for right-handed persons; also that many left-handed persons have an awkward way of writing. However, they were led to see that a left-handed person can be induced to slant his writing hand at a comfortable angle almost opposite to that used by the right-handed.

Widely Accepted

Then the question of stuttering in connection with changed handedness was considered. A commonsense theory emerging then and pretty widely accepted now by psychologists was recommended, namely, that most stuttering is caused by emotional disturbances, that forcing the left-handed child at any age to change has handedness could be very frustrating emotionally and, therefore, could be at least one cause of stuttering. In the best modern schools, teachers are instructed not to require a left-handed child to use his right hand in handwriting. Nor do wise parents force the child at any age to use the right hand.

But at home or school the parents or teacher who is very calm and persuasive with the left-handed child might safely win him to choose to use his right hand. The danger is that although the parents or teacher supposes she is not unduly urging the child to change his handedness, she might be doing so nonetheless. The moment the youngster feels the least bit hampered he may be endangered emotionally, even though he may not stutter or show other marked evidence of "nervousness." Most of us would do well not to tamper with a child's handedness.

atically eligible for benefits from the United States and elsewhere. Fourth, if less important factor is the monarchist angle. Many of the people and certain members of the clergy believe that Spain could thrive better and fit more neatly into the family of nations as a constitutional monarchy under pretender Don Juan.

Francisco has steadfastly refused to step down in favor of the Bourbons. He is reported to have told the hereditary head of the Spanish royal house that the Bourbon claims would be recognized if Don Juan remained as chief of state. Don Juan replied with admirable simplicity that the throne of the Asturias is not big enough to hold two men.

All dispatches from Madrid indicate that serious trouble is expected in the industrial areas of both north and south Spain during the coming months.

Traditionally, Spain is in festive and peaceful array during the Easter season—the spring holidays in Seville used to attract thousands of tourists and still are a powerful magnet.

But the indications are that this is merely a truce to be broken before much time has passed. There is no proof as yet that any organized revolutionary movement exists.

But violence is expected, and the next few months may show whether Franco's experiment in dictatorship has created a permanent in Spanish government or is to be wrecked in a sea of popular discontent.

CIRCUS

Circuses are great affairs! Lions roaring in their cages. Horses, elephants and bears. Children have enjoyed for ages.

Clowns, from little girls and boys. Win the gayest shrieks of laughter.

Wide-eyed, every child enjoys. Acrobats who follow after.

Will the circus ever die? Not till youngsters shall forsake them.

Not while men as old as I, Who are grandpas, want to take them.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

In war . . . not all thoughts are mean . . . here is an example that substantiates that thinking. These words were found penned on the fly-leaf of an iron-clad, water-proofed wrapped Bible on a battlefield . . . Author unknown.

WHAT A FRIEND

Look, God I have never spoken to you. But now I want to say, "How do you do?" You see, God, they told me You didn't exist, And like a fool, I believed all this.

I wonder, God, if You'd shake my hand. Somehow, I feel that You will understand. Funny I had to come to this hellish place Before I had time to see Your face.

Last night, from a shell hole, I saw Your sky. I figured then they had told me a lie. Had I taken time to see things You made I'd have known they weren't calling a spade.

Well, I guess there isn't much more to say, But I'm glad, God, I met You today. I guess the zero-hour will soon be here, But I'm not afraid since I know You're near.

The signal. Well, God, I'll have to go. I like You lots—that I want You to know. Look now, this will be a horrible fight. Who knows—I may come to Your house tonight.

Though I wasn't a friend to You before, I wonder, God, if You'd wait at Your door. Look, I'm crying—Me—shedding tears. I wish I'd known You these many years.

Well, I have to go now, God, Goodbye. Strange, since I met You, I'm not afraid to die.

PILLARS OF HERCULES

"World's Greatest Golfer"

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

I haven't been back from abroad long enough to read all the cross-examination and testimony of the Senate Crime Investigation Committee, but I have been back long enough, and read enough, to enable me to arrive at several definite conclusions.

One is that Frank Costello is the world's greatest golfer.

His name won't be found in the record books along with the names of Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Francis Ouimet, Harry Vardon, Byron Nelson and Ben-Hogan, to name a few, but he must be superior to all these men with the driver, brassie, No. 5 iron, sand wedge and putter.

He has, according to his own testimony, spent more time on a golf course than any man living or dead. His office for many years has been either on the tee or in the clubhouse. Reading what he told the committee makes me wonder how he ever found time to make enough money to pay golf club dues. He was always playing golf.

Had To Take Few Hours Off

All the golfers I have ever known, both pro and amateur, had to take a few hours off a week to make a little money to enable them to play the game they loved.

Not Mr. Costello. He hit the course each day before the robins or the groundskeeper, and stayed there until dusk shrouded the greens.

Now unless Mr. Costello is with-out any sort of muscular co-ordi-

One Man's Opinion

A decline of two-tenths of one per cent is noted in food prices. This will enable a number of people to restore caviar to their diet.

Two-tenths of one per cent here and two tenths of one per cent there and the first thing you know you have one per cent. And stop worrying about the other 99 per cent.

But this is an indication that the battle against inflation goes well and in no time at all we shall have succeeded in lopping as much as four-tenths of one per cent off the meat bill.

One can easily see the happy housewives crowding into the savings banks to deposit their little two-tenths of one per cent as a cushion against old age.

And all of this has been accomplished without the regimentation so many feared as necessary. Today you still can go into a store without any kind of ration card and not be able to afford to buy anything.

nation, unless he is absolutely unable to match mind with biceps, triceps, whiceps, and all of the other ceps which go to make up a human being, he must be the greatest golfer in the world.

You can't play as much golf as he told the Senate Committee he did without developing tremendous proficiency. My offhand guess is that he shoots in the low 40's, and that for eighteen holes. I would also guess that he gets mad as all get-out when he slips up and only makes a birdie on a hole. He must be an eagle and hole-in-one man.

None of the golfers I mentioned above spend, or spent, as much time on a golf course as Mr. Costello. Ben Hogan has the reputation of being the most indefatigable practitioner of them all, but Mr. Costello makes him look like a stay-in-bed sleephead.

If Mr. Costello can remember all I will say that reading his testimony leads me to believe that if his lawyer were not present to prompt him Mr. Costello would not know his name, home address, or anything else (Mr. Costello will enter the lists of the National Open golf championship this year, and win it by a handsome margin. If this happens, it is to be assumed that he won't remember winning it, and he won't remember the prize money he paid him.

If it won't bore you too much, I would like to picture the scene of Mr. Costello and lawyer Wolfe on the first tee of the National Open. Golf reporter: What is your name and where do you come from?

Mr. Costello: I don't recollect. It is possible that I have a name, but I don't remember.

Mr. Wolfe: This man's name is Costello, but I do not like to tell you his name when cameras are whirling and the wind is causing a tremendous noise as it passes through the trees, and a mole is upsetting my golfer by chewing on the thirteenth green.

Golf reporter: Mr. Costello, did you enter this tournament in the hope that you would win the money you need?

Mr. Wolfe: Please, reporter, remember that Mr. Costello is now late for his shave, haircut, oil massage, and the works at the Waldorf-Astoria. Also, he is overdue at the Colony where, because of thrift measures, he eats a hamburger every day. Will you please excuse our not answering your questions.

Golf reporter: Yes, I will. But I am not at all sure that the country will.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"All those who want to go to heaven will kindly rise," said the minister of a small Maine congregation—possibly to make sure everybody was awake. All but one man in a pew near the rear rose promptly. "Hm-m-m," mused the minister. "Now, anyone who wants to go to Hades will please stand up." The congregation tittered and stole a look at the minister who had remained seated earlier. Again he didn't move.

The minister addressed him directly. "An I, to understand, Brother Caldwell, that you want to go neither to heaven nor the other place?"

"That's it exactly," was the reply. "I like it right here."

Dreamer Of Dreams

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 27.—Until our global planners establish a clearing house of their dream-schemes and post a blueprint on the wall, the rest of us will have to pick up odds and ends of information as we go along.

I am thinking of the bold new concepts lately revealed from Marshall Plan headquarters by its director-spokesman William C. Foster. Since Foster is undoubtedly speaking for the Administration and in knowledge of the total viewpoint, his revelations—as they say in Hollywood—are colossal and stupendous.

Foster has referred in a rather off-hand way to the idea of turning Western Europe into a factory for American war materials. He points out the great advantage of using cheap foreign labor in the shops and plants which the Marshall Plan has financed. He has it figured out that the Dutch, for example, could build us a warship for only 25 cents on the dollar.

Exploit Coolie Labor?

That's fine, but the idea of exploiting coolie labor never did sit well with the American public. The humanitarians always raise a still small voice, and the union leaders invariably raise a howl. If we are to use overseas workers, is there also a plan to use somebody's sleeve to regulate a foreign wage-and-hour law? If not, who's going to break the news of these job-robbing plans to Messrs. Reuther, Carey, Murray, Green and their associated leaders of labor?

Another matter comes up here. If we are to use the Marshall Plan to equip dime-an-hour European labor with tools for piece-work, do we contemplate using Point Four for the same purposes? The West Europeans are a civilized people with ideas of their own, but the denizens of the "backward areas" of the Point Four deserts and jungles are partly savage and would present a real opportunity in exploitation. If we send in medical aid to reduce their normal death-rate and if we teach them the know-how of American machinery, there is practically no limit to the man-hours at the command of the global planners. But, again, this whole idea of sweat-shop labor is sure to create problems of ethics and union politics.

About One-Fourth Of Ours

Foster also has something to say about the matter of industrial production. In a prepared statement issued from his headquarters he says the Marshall Plan goal is to double the output of participating nations. As of now, he says, West Europe's per capita production is "only about one-fourth of ours." He hopes that this rate will "rise to equal almost half of ours."

Yes, but what happens then? Do the global planners mean to hold the European rate at 50 per cent of our rate and no higher? If so, what controls are to be placed on European industry and by what methods? We could, as we started to do in Germany, dismantle a number of factories when production threatens to top the designated limit. We could, perhaps, set up commissions to guard against too much skill, too much education, too much energy in these member-nations which would soon, of course, become little more than American colonies. On the one hand, do we allow European production, once started, to seek its own level? Do we keep pouring in funds, machinery and know-how until their output becomes equal to our own, or even until the situation is reversed and European production is 400 per cent of our own?

Global Planners Problems

All the global planners of history, from the Pharaohs to the Marxists, ran into such problems. Every Five Year Plan leads to another, and every economic control leads to other controls, among them: taxation without representation, destruction of tools, reduction of population by homicide and infanticide, forced migration of large numbers of people. These methods seem crude, but all of them were used within our own times by Hitler and Stalin, as well as by the more ancient social planners. The trouble with all social planning is that it soon runs up against such stubborn obstacles as human nature, tribal customs and economic determinism. Then there's rebellion.

No world-order plan has ever worked, but that's not to say that none ever will. Still, if there's a blueprint, it ought to be made public. If there's a Master Plan which coordinates all these policies, the American people should be allowed to look it over. Hitler and Marx both wrote books to outline their schemes. Even the Pharaohs kept somebody around the palace to interpret the royal dreams. It sure would be nice to know what the global planners think they're doing.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Probably I shouldn't be telling you this at all.

But since I am not going to mention any names I won't get anybody in trouble.

On the other hand, I just know that this column is going to bring me a lot of letters again about being an old reactionary, and the anonymous ones will tell me that I ought to lie down and die because I have long been dead from the neck up anyway. Only a few days ago an anonymous fellow wrote and told me that he would gladly kill me himself if it wouldn't get him in jail.

As I mentioned a couple of weeks ago I was up at Keuka College lecturing to a couple hundred girls.

I complimented the college on preparing its students for the realities of life and for careers.

But what I didn't tell you at the time was that careers aren't really what those girls are after at all. The Keuka students are modern girls. They are from good families—no rich, not poor. I should say that they are typical American girls from typical American families.

So they must be representative of the America of today and of womanhood of today.

They are mostly good students. They take their work seriously. They know that life isn't a plaything.

But I made it a point to talk with the girls during lunch and dinner and after dinner, not a visiting lecturer but as a human being talks with other human beings.

I talked primarily with the girls who are going to graduate this June.

At first they spoke of careers, and their business and professional ambitions.

But then they let down their hair.

There was not one single senior whose main ambition it was not to get married, have a home and raise a family.

Careers—all right until they have found a suitable husband.

They were willing even to go on working after they were married to help their husbands along. But a career for the career's sake?

Perhaps there are those who want them. There must be such. But I did not find them at Keuka.

Husband, home, kids—that was the real career these girls want.

Apparently the most popular course was the course on marriage. How to get a man. How to hold him. How to make a home happy and successful. How to cook and keep house. How to raise children.

That's what they like. Those girls knew exactly what percentage of women get married.

CLEAN AND PRETTY
A pretty waitress in a neat clean dress and a pleasant smile makes pretty good scenery.

Spiffy Dolly in the dining room and Stuffy Dora in the kitchen do not make a very good combination.

Perhaps it is more important to have a clean kitchen than a fancy dining room.

Clean hands and clean floors and clean stoves and clean hair and clean corners and clean utensils spell sanitation.

Dolly says that is pretty tough to go to all this trouble to be clean and then have to wait on a patron whose mind is somewhat dirty. Dolly may have something there.

U.N. Test For Uniform Signs Causes Storm

COLUMBUS, O., March 27.—(INS)—A United Nations test to find a universal system of highway signs has given Ohio Highway Director T. J. Krauer his own problem of keeping peace—with irate motorists.

Krauer said today he is receiving telephone calls—"not a great many but usually violent"—with such comments as:

"Aren't our signs good enough without the UN butting in?"

"If I saw a Russian sign I certainly wouldn't pay any attention to it."

"I don't see why we have to take advice from Europe about our highway signs."

Result Of Signs Erection

These reactions are the results of 24 signs erected along an eight-mile stretch of a highway south of Columbus.

None of the signs has words. They only have symbols used in different foreign countries for the four basic highway warnings: Curves, crossroads, narrow roads and railroad.

Four bear the usual American markings and some of the signs bear combinations of the foreign and American symbols.

The project is being conducted by the UN transport and communications committee in cooperation with the State Highway Department.

A poll of 40 average motorists will be conducted in a few days to determine which signs are preferred.

Krauer meanwhile is pacifying angry callers. He commented: "One thing I'd like to point out is that none of the signs is Russian."

Senator Tobey Reports Threats

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(INS)—Sen. Tobey (R) N. H., disclosed today that he has had three threats to his "personal safety" as a result of his crime probe activities, and that they are being investigated.

Tobey said that two of the threats were contained in letters, one handwritten, and one typed, and the other was delivered by telephone. One of the letters, he added, was postmarked Yonkers, N. Y.

Asked whether he took the threats seriously, Tobey replied: "I took them seriously enough to have them looked into."

He refused to discuss the contents of the letters or to say what agency is investigating them.

Informed of reports that he is under a constant guard, Tobey replied: "That's all right by me, if it's true. I didn't know about it."

He said he was under guard during the Senate Crime Committee's New York hearings, but knew of no guards now.

Committee Chairman Kefauver (D) Tenn., told newsmen that he had received some threatening letters but he had decided they were the work of "crackpots."

Sen. Hunt (D) Wyo., said yesterday he had received an "intelligently written" typed letter from Miami saying that "people who stick their noses in other people's business very often have unhappy endings."

U.S. Controls Over Aluminum Are Ordered Tightened

(Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(INS)—The government today tightened its controls over aluminum production by reserving 45 to 75 per cent of the output of sheet, tubing and other products for military requirements.

The action, effective April 1, applies to fabricated production of aluminum shapes and forms, which include rods, bars, wire and cable as well as sheet and tubing.

The National Production Authority also increased from 25 to 45 per cent the amount of aluminum products distributors and jobbers must set aside for military use.

In another action the agency announced an allocation system for molybdenum, a steel-hardening agent, will go into effect May 1 to cover military and non-defense production.

NPA spokesmen said the effect of the aluminum action would be to intensify a 35 per cent overall cut in aluminum supplies for non-defense uses ordered in January.

NPA's directive increased by 15 per cent the amounts of aluminum producers and fabricators must set aside to fill military orders.

Marino writes, "You never know how much scouting can help in all avenues of life, and specifically here in knot tying, keeping clothes neat, marching drills, and first aid treatment and methods. I can never give enough thanks to scouting and what it has done for me. Tell all the boys of troop 26 that I said hello."

Herlihy, 27, was due to appear yesterday but police couldn't open his cell. Officials explained that while Herlihy was in a rosy glow he thought he was parking his car and put a dime in the cell lock, jamming it.

They said Herlihy told them, "I must have put my money in the wrong meter."

Rosenberg Case May Reach Jury On Wednesday

NEW YORK, March 27.—(INS)—Defense counsel will resume direct examination today of Mrs. Ethel Rosenberg, one of three defendants in the nation's first atom spy trial which is entering its 14th day.

Mrs. Rosenberg is on trial with her husband, Julius, an engineer, and Morton Sobell, radar expert who was a schoolmate of Rosenberg.

All three are accused of obtaining A-bomb information for transmission to Russia.

Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, an ex-army sergeant who worked at the Los Alamos, N. M., experimental base, already has testified that he turned vital information over to Rosenberg. Greenglass, who confessed his own guilt, is awaiting sentence.

Much of yesterday's session was devoted to denials by Rosenberg that he had received awards from Russia of any kind.

When his wife took the stand she steadfastly refused, as did Rosenberg, to answer any questions regarding Communist party affiliations.

She told the court that she refused to answer on grounds that to reply might tend to incriminate her.

The case may go to the jury Wednesday afternoon.

Set Hearing Date On Fare Increase In Pittsburgh

HARRISBURG, March 27.—(INS)—The Public Utility Commission today fixed April 23-24 for hearings on the City of Pittsburgh's complaint against a token fare increase instituted February 18 by the Pittsburgh Railway Company.

The hearings will take place in Pittsburgh's City-County building starting at 10 a.m. each day, the PUC said.

The city protested to the regulatory commission that the $2.157,000 annual revenue increase is "unfair and unjust."

The new tariff boosted trolley tokens from 12 to 13½ cents while bus tickets rose from 15 to 17½ cents.

Cash fares of 15 cents on trolleys and 20 cents on buses were unchanged.

The carrier said the rate hike was needed to offset increased wages and other high operating costs.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

CHICAGO—Visitors to Chicago will be able to find their way around town more easily henceforth. The city is replacing street signs with a new type, scientifically designed for easy reading.

Scout Troop Back From Camp

22 Boys In Attendance, Enjoy Week's Outing

There was a good turnout of Boy Scout troop 4 for the Easter camp at Camp Agawam, who returned to their homes during the weekend. According to scoutmaster Bill Weitz, there were 22 scouts in attendance, and in spite of the cold weather they had an enjoyable time.

Quite a number of second class and first class tests and merit badges were passed. Senior patrol leader Bill Shaffer and junior assistant scoutmaster James DoVido were in charge of the camp, with the scoutmaster as advisor. There were several exploration hikes in the neighborhood of the camp. Three substantial meals were enjoyed each day and were prepared by the boys in attendance. All were given a turn at the cooking, in charge of a more experienced scout.

Troop 4 will meet this evening at 7 o'clock in Mahoning school. It is expected there will be a feature picture and comedy available for showing during the evening.

Red Cross Fund Chairman Lewis Issues Appeal

L. J. Lewis, fund chairman of the 1951 Red Cross drive for $52,000, in a recent statement to N. N. Jaquish, publicity head for the campaign, said that with our final report meeting scheduled for Friday, March 30, we as workers, must realize every service available in renewed efforts to reach our quota this week. We now stand at 64 per cent of our goal.

Our program this year calls for blood for the armed forces and civil defense, a first aid training program, and a recruitment and training of nurses, all in addition to our local needs. $52,000 is only our minimum goal.

Mr. Lewis continued, "In this period of unparalleled danger, all of us in the Red Cross have the privilege and the opportunity to serve our nation in its hour of need."

Lewis then quoted from a telegram sent to the Lawrence County Red Cross chapter house, by Governor John S. Fine, of the state of Pennsylvania: "Pennsylvania has always responded to the demands made upon it during great national emergencies. Ever increasing numbers of our young men and women are now entering the nation's armed forces and Pennsylvania is well represented on the battlefields of Korea."

Through our support of the American Red Cross we shall assure the funds necessary to carry on the many Red Cross services that are so essential to them and their families.

The 1951 workers Red Cross campaign workers in your chapter are carrying out a patriotic service of vital importance to the citizens of this state. This mission must be accomplished."

ENEMY LIKELY TO MAKE STAND NEAR 38th LINE

put up another major stand south of the 38th Parallel," said the officer. "But I think that if we hit them above the parallel," we will find them fighting like sons of guns."

The Reds were building up strength at various places just below the famed parallel. But it was believed possible that this might be a huge rearguard operation to permit time for the consolidation of bigger Chinese and North Korean buildups, just north of the imaginary border.

Through Tuesday the United Nations offensive chewed methodically deeper into the narrowing strip of enemy-held South Korean territory.

The trapping of the large Red force was reported by International News Service War Correspondent Don A. Schanche in a Tuesday night dispatch from the front north of Seoul.

The three Chinese battalions were caught by American tank-infantry forces smashing up from Allied-held Uijongbu and other units that rammed into the enemy's rear.

Schanche said it was not yet known whether the troops that closed the steel trap in the north had driven east from Munsan or west from the central front.

Gave Chance To Surrender

After forging the fiery ring around the enemy battalions, the Americans gave the trapped Chinese a chance to quit fighting and remain alive. Loudspeakers and leaflets called upon the Reds to lay down their arms and surrender. Schanche's dispatch related.

The clash in which 350 Chinese were killed broke out in the area west of the Uijongbu "invasion corridor" at a point six miles south of Parallel 38. Schanche said the Americans pressed their furious attack through Chinese artillery and mortar fire.

The attacking GIs spotted two Communist tanks in the same area, but the enemy armor did not join in battle.

East of Munsan, Schanche reported, Republic of Korea (ROK) troops were dug in Tuesday night along the Imjin river five miles south of the 38th Parallel which has split Korea into two segments since the end of World War II.

Road Leading To Pyongyang

North Korean troops, comprising more than a division, were reported deployed along the Imjin's opposite bank, at a point the approaches to the major South Korean border hub of Kaesong on the main road leading to the Communist capital of Pyongyang.

The U. S. Eighth Army's Tuesday night communique, received a few hours before Schanche's dispatch, told of "light" and "scattered" contact with enemy troops as the UN forces punched out additional "limited" gains near North Korea's southern boundary.

In the central and east-central sectors, the bulletin said, Allied patrols met "light" resistance north of Chunchon and northeast of Hanje.

The communique added that there were no new reports from the east-central flank where the ROK army command said its troops had crossed Parallel 38 and captured a village three miles inside North Korea Monday.

Above Seoul, the Chinese 26th Army Corps was routed from its chief remaining strongpoints south of the parallel.

At several points just below and above the pre-war border, however, the Reds deployed reinforced units in efforts to set up new defenses guarding Communist North Korea itself.

In west and central Korea, enemy buildups were seen in areas four to five miles south of the controversial parallel. Red China simultaneously rushed fresh reserves and supplies from Manchuria into North Korea.

Judge Asks Advice From Any Crime Free Community

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.—(INS)—A Philadelphia judge extended an invitation today to officials of any crime free community to advise him how they keep their slates clean.

Judge Edwin O. Lewis, who heads a special grand jury probing graft and racketeer influence in the city's police department, made the request in court today during an extradition proceeding involving Samuel C. Yates, of Newark, N. J.

Yates waived extradition to Newark where he is wanted on a bad check charge. Noting that Newark was in Essex County, Judge Lewis recalled "that is where a Kefauver committee witness (Abner "Longie" Zwillman) testified you couldn't place a bet."

Judge Lewis added: "I didn't know there was a county in the United States where you couldn't place a bet. If it is the truth, I'd like to find out how it is done."

"If they have such a condition, I think I'm going to ask the authorities of that county to come here and tell our grand jury how they do it."

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held Thursday at Fort Myer, Va., for Col. Hobart A. Murphy, 49, chief of the Pennsylvania military district, who died yesterday in Philadelphia Naval hospital.

Pension Appeal
To Be PresentedCity Employees
Back Appeal

Appeal papers are ready in the case of the City of New Castle retirement fund case and the appeal to the State Supreme Court will be presented this week.

The appeal is that from the decision of the Lawrence County Court which held that the ordinance authorizing the retirement plan for elected and appointed employees was invalid. The reason given for the overturn of the ordinance was that it did not follow the Act of the General Assembly. At no place did the decision outlaw the right of the city to set up a retirement fund, only that the city exceeded in its authority in some of the provisions.

The appeal is being made not by the city as such but by employees, who intervened as defendants in the case before the Lawrence County Court. A decision in the matter is not likely until late in the year as the case will not get to a hearing before the Supreme Court until October.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLIS BATTLE

New York, March 27—(INS)—Little hats, little furs and lilac were the fashions-to-beat in 1951's annual, trend-setting Easter parade.

The lilac colors and little furs had been predicted by stylists, but small hats were in fashion by popular demand—not courtier choice. High-fashion milliners have, for several months, ballyhooed the return of mammoth "more feminine" headgear. But yesterday's mode march proved the little woman still wants a little hat to wear with her still-short curls.

Lilac colors, from pale lavender to deep purples, were the popular favorites in keeping with the latest color style propaganda.

And little furs (capotes, stoles, jackets and ascots) uphold furriers' predictions that animal skins will be just as good in spring and summer as they have always been in winter.

MORE ARRESTS NEAR

PITTSBURGH, March 27—(INS)—Pittsburgh city detectives admitted today more arrests may be near in their efforts to crack the ring which has stolen more than $70,000 in merchandise from the Kroger Grocery company in Pittsburgh.

Detectives arrested their fourth suspect yesterday and said he admitted receiving $6,500 in the last two years as his share of the loot, before arresting William Geyer, 32, of nearby Saxonburg, detectives had rounded up three Pittsburgh men.

Three of the four men were Kroger employees.

Above all other animals, the rabbit is the hunter's favorite quarry.

Animal Trainer
Averts Panic As
Lioness Escapes

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., March 27—(INS)—An animal trainer astride an elephant averted panic among several hundred socialite guests and saved them from possible death last night when a 400-pound lioness escaped from her cage at a "circus party" in Palm Springs.

The lioness bolted the cage in the center of a tent and fled out doors to the grounds of the Rogers Ranch Club after four of the big cats became jammed in a chute leading to a caged ring.

The party, given by Stewart Hoppes, wealthy New York insurance man, to celebrate his wife's birthday anniversary, was thrown into turmoil.

Then Mel Koontz, trainer at the animal compound in Thousand Oaks, Calif., mounted an elephant and blocked the tent exit to prevent hysterical guests from exposing themselves to danger by rushing outdoors.

An official of the club helped to restore order by singing calmly over a loudspeaker.

Police and club attendants captured the lion a half hour later within a thousand yards of the club entrance. No injuries were reported.

WHAT DO I OWN
WHEN I OWN A SHARE OF STOCK?

When you own a share of stock, you own a share of a business.

Let's say you own just one share of common stock in an automobile company. Then you are an owner of an interest in that company, in its factories, materials, products, reputation, even in the skill of its workers and management.

Or let's say you own a share, or ten shares, of a company in a different industry—a railroad, a drug and chemical concern, a public utility, a food processor, an airplane maker. Again you own an interest in everything that company has—its laboratories, supplies, patents, know-how.

You have a certificate showing that you are one of the legal owners. That certificate is registered in your name on the books of the company. You have the right, with other stockholders, to elect the men who run the business and who report to you on the company's operations.

The number of shares you hold measures your part of the company—your part of the profits it may earn, the dividends it may pay, the ownership risks you have assumed. Whether you own one share or seven or 1,000, you own a share of a business... and to that extent it is your company.

Shares in hundreds of different companies are bought and sold daily on the New York Stock Exchange by people all over the country. These companies are "listed." They meet certain requirements when they placed their shares on the Exchange.

Information about prominent corporations, including earnings and dividend records, is available without obligation at offices of member firms of the New York Stock Exchange.

Ask President Of France To Make Address

Foreign Ministers
Of 21 Republics
Extend Invitation

By GEORGE DURNO
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Foreign ministers of the 21 American republics voted unanimously Monday afternoon to invite President Auriol of France to address them on March 31 after beating down Guatemalan objections.

The foreign ministers also voted to ask Charles E. Wilson, American defense mobilizer, to address them at some date during their sessions. This took place at a closed door initial session called to organize the conference.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson brought up the fact that the French president would be in Washington while the conference was in session and suggested that because of the signal association between France and the American States he should be invited to speak.

Prepare Agenda.
The foreign ministers appointed a committee composed of Panama, Mexico and Argentina which in turn will set up a committee on proposals to be brought before the conference during the next two weeks.

There was delay in naming of the chairman of the three major committees—military, political, internal security and economic—but it was made clear each nation could have a representative on any committee it desired.

Peruvian Foreign Minister Manuel C. Gallaguer urged, with wide support, that April 6 be set as a target date for winding up the meeting of the foreign ministers.

Tyson, who attributed his long life to "good liquor, fat meat and hard work," left 54 descendants.

By JAMES PADGITT
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, March 27.—Jan Sterling is not losing any sleep over being dropped from New York's social register. She reasons that it must be the price of screen fame and she laughs the whole thing off.

"Yes, they cut me out," smiles the blonde beauty and star of many a Broadway hit. "I guess I must have forgotten to pay my dues or something."

Jan was born Jane Sterling Adriance, daughter of an advertising executive. Her stepfather was a top brass in Socony Vacuum oil. Her mother is still listed among the Manhattan bluebloods. "I don't care one way or the other about the social register," declares Jan. "I think the whole thing is snobbish anyhow. Why, it is unreliable, too. You're supposed to list your ancestors and descendants, you know."

"Well, I know one woman who listed her Pekinese puppy. I bet that's news to the editors."

Double-Whammy
Miss Sterling thinks that she was dropped because the register publishers do not cotton to theater people too much. Not only is Jan a star in her own right, but she is married to actor Paul Douglas. And that gives her a double-whammy.

"Anyway, I'm happier being listed on the Perlberg-Seaton payroll," insists Jan.

Ben Perlberg and George Seaton are producers of "Rhubarb" in which Jan plays opposite Ray Milland.

PRESSES HUMMING

The printing presses are humming out at Universal-International studio in the "Money-Making Room" and the company is making money hand over fist.

Director Fred DeCordova needs $400,000 for the forthcoming "Oh, Baby", starring Ethel Barrymore, Tom Ewell and Julia Adams. The amount must be in small bills.

When DeCordova read the script he ordered a quick check of the studio's "financial" resources and found them dwindled down to a miserly $150,000. Rats had gotten into a bale of greenbacks and eaten up $750,000 worth of the money money.

In "Oh, Baby" Miss Barrymore's grandson is required to toddle off to a vacant lot every day or two with his little red wagon and return home with the wagon filled with paper money.

Former Ohio State Prison Inmate Files Damage Suit

COLUMBUS, O., March 27.—(INS)—A Lima State hospital surgeon is the defendant today in an $850,000 suit filed by a former Ohio penitentiary inmate who charges the physician with performing an illegal operation on him.

Henry F. Humphries, 31, who started a 20 to 50 year term in 1943 for armed robbery and assault with intent to kill and rob, filed a petition yesterday in common pleas court against Dr. Lowell O. Dillon.

Humphries said he sought the damages as remuneration for "crimes committed against his person and nature that violated his constitutional rights and human rights as a prisoner of the state of Ohio."

MEAN HUSBIES

LONDON.—(INS)—A mean husband is worse than an unfaithful one. That is the opinion of British Minister of National Insurance Dr. Edith Summerskill, a wife and mother of two children. "The chronically mean husband," she said, "is a greater source of irritation than the one guilty of one act of unfaithfulness."

Helping the Nation get things done for 75 years

This year is the telephone's seventy-fifth and busiest birthday.

What began as a line between two rooms in a Boston attic in 1876 has developed, in one lifetime, into a Long Distance network that covers the Nation—and extends to most of the world's telephones.

This great system has grown in answer to the needs of a people. And it's a good thing it has. In these threatening times, the Long Distance lines that bind this country together are more vital than ever.

For today they are helping to speed production and guard the Nation's security—jobs that call for nothing less than the best telephone service in the world.

Budget Is Up To Legislators

Four Men Will Have Decision

HARRISBURG, March 27.—(INS)—Governor Fine's tax and budget recommendations are in the hands of four men who will virtually decide whether the proposals shall go unchallenged or should be trimmed. They are House Appropriations Committee Chairman Norman Wood, of Lancaster, and House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wrayburn Hall, of Potter; Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Leroy E. Chapman, of Warren, and Senate Finance Committee Chairman T. Newell Wood, of Luzerne.

Their decisions will have a direct bearing on the commonwealth's budget for the 1951-53 biennium opening June 1. All have long years of service with the exception of Wood who is in his second four-year term but what he lacks in legislative tenure he makes up in financial acumen as a steelman.

Assemblyman Wood has been in the House since 1923 and has headed the appropriations group for more than a quarter of a century. Hall is engaged in financial work privately and has served in the House since 1937. Chapman, a physician in private life, has captained the appropriations committee in the Senate for more than 10 years. Inasmuch as all revenue-raising measures must originate in the House, the burden is greater on Wood and Hall for producing the legislature's version of the budget and tax programs.

The Pennsylvania Association of Restaurant Men is agreeable to abolition of the State Milk Control Commission. President L. H. Heine, of Lancaster, said the association considered the three-member agency "a noble but ineffective experiment." He said the association was convinced the agency has "outlived its usefulness" and claimed that "as it is run now the consumer, both the housewife and the restaurant owners, are hurt by it." The MCC was activated 18 years ago.

The Institute of Life Insurance has come up with statistics following a nationwide survey which are applicable to Pennsylvania insurance.

ance policy owners and their families. In families where the head is a college graduate, the institute surveys show that 84 per cent will have coverage while in families having breadwinners with grade school instruction only the percentage drops to 33. The institute emphasizes that "this appears to be due less to educational differences than to differences in income and other factors."

Eighty-seven per cent of the families headed by professional or managerial men or self-employed have coverage. Seventy-two per cent of unskilled workers and 63 per cent of farmers in similar capacities as family heads have coverage, according to the institute.

Lower income was credited for the drop in all instances. Seventy-five per cent of families with incomes upwards of $7,500 a year owned more than $5,000 each in insurance.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike from Irwin to Middlesex is a 160-mile long barrier to the free north-south movement of deer but to one doe a mile and a half-long tunnel was an avenue to escape. State Game Protector John S. Dittmar, of Loysburg, reported to the Pennsylvania game commission that a watcher on the Allegheny tunnel spotted a doe racing through hotly pursued by a beagle. The dog was nabbed and the doe made off.

The Turnpike is lined with fence to keep deer off the high-speed toll road but some of the animals develop a knack for hurrying the higher-than-usual fence.

Delivering Steel For Erection Of New Supermarket

Delivery of steel and other building materials for the erection of a new supermarket for the Kroger Grocery & Baking company is taking place at a site on Wilmington avenue at Euclid.

Company officials have not yet released the size of the new market, nor the cost involved in its construction. A Canonsburg, Pa. firm is erecting the new building which will be sublet to the Kroger firm, according to reports.

Regular monthly meeting of the Knights of Columbus, Council 512, will be held Wednesday, March 28, at 8:30 p. m. in the club rooms at 29 North Jefferson street. Business will be transacted and the final voting on applications for degrees will take place at this time. The degrees will be exemplified during the month of April.

BELGRADE, March 27.—(INS)—Bulgaria's charge d'affaires in Belgrade, Marko Temjanov, began packing his bags today on order from the Yugoslav government to leave as soon as possible.

Announcement of the Yugoslav decision to oust Temjanov brought an immediate reprisal from Bulgaria.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, in a report on the continuing war of nerves between Belgrade and its communist neighbors, said Bulgaria has "refused further hospitality" to the Yugoslav charge d'affaires in Sofia, Petar Ivkovitch.

Ask For Probe Of Juvenile Court In Allegheny Co.

HARRISBURG, March 27.—(INS)—An investigation of the Allegheny county juvenile court is proposed today in a resolution before the house rules committee.

The co-sponsors, Assemblymen Thomas H. Geer, Jr., (R) Butler, and Paul F. Jones (D) Allegheny, said the resolution was prompted by claims from lawyers and individuals "that they have not been given fair treatment" by the court. The resolution proposes that if a sub-committee of the joint state government commission is convinced that the complaints are "sincere", then all cases and penalties should be studied.

If evidence from the record substantiates the complaints, the resolution proposes, then the specific cases involved shall be reheard. The sub-committee would be charged with determining whether to recommend continuance of the 18-year-old court.

New Substance Shows Promise In Cancer Battle

CHICAGO, March 26.—(INS)—Development of a new substance showing great promise in the management of cancer was announced Monday at a meeting of 62 of the nation's top cancer specialists in Chicago.

Experiments with the material—now called krebiozen—were reported by Dr. A. C. Ivy, vice-president in charge of the University of Illinois professional schools.

Dr. Ivy, who has directed the clinical investigation of krebiozen over the last 18 months, said it is a serum taken from horses. Thus far, Dr. Ivy cautioned, the serum has been used on far too few patients—only 22—to allow complete evaluation of its merits. He explained:

"We are deliberately letting both the medical profession and the lay public behind the scenes at this time because we believe that only a wide clinical participation can give us answers quickly. I believe krebiozen merits a thorough clinical study and evaluation."

Discoverer of Serum

Discoverer of the serum, Dr. Ivy told the specialists, was Dr. Stevan Durovic, a native of Yugoslavia who now makes his home in Kenilworth, Ill., Chicago suburb.

Based on the University of Illinois' experience, Dr. Ivy declared, krebiozen's great merit is that it is non-toxic. Many other drugs and serum which check the rapid growth of cancer cells have been discovered, but these destroy normal tissue as well and are useless for all practical purposes.

He added that the new serum has the further merit of apparently arresting the lightning-like spread of deep cancers difficult to deal with surgically or with X-ray.

Dr. Ivy, one of the world's top research physiologists, said that following the use of the krebiozen in some extremely advanced cases, the cancerous lesions shrank and a large number of cancer cells were destroyed.

He said that a low percentage of desperately stricken cancer patients given the new serum have died.

But he added that in every case in which the serum was given, patients slept better, had less pain and felt better.

"Are all automatic drives alike?"

That's a question we often hear—and we believe the answer to it has a big bearing on your choice of a new car. The answer is...

NOT in snow, sand, or mud! If ever you're bogged down and couldn't "rock" your car because of the gear-shift lag in a self-shifting transmission...you'll appreciate this Packard Ultramatic advantage: You can change instantly—without clashing—from Forward to Reverse!

NOT on slippery streets! If a sudden "down-shift" has ever thrown your car into a dangerous skid, you'll know why Packard owners are so enthusiastic about the safety of Ultramatic Drive. Its smooth engine braking power gives you complete control!

NOT on the long haul! If you're familiar with the cost of gas-wasting slippage at cruising speeds, you'll welcome the thrifty, lasting efficiency of Packard Ultramatic Drive. No gas-wasting slippage when cruising. No service problems.

It's more than a car -- it's a PACKARD

To Meet Tonight

Tonight in the offices of the Greater New Castle Association it is expected a young men's division, or Junior Greater New Castle Association, will be organized.

Young men between the ages of 21 and 35 will be at the meeting at 7:30 o'clock and it is hoped a crowd will attend. The invitation to attend is open to all in the age bracket who are interested.

In effect, the group will be in the position of a Junior Chamber of Commerce. The GNCA functions as a Chamber of Commerce except that it has a broader base. In many cities the Junior Chamber of Commerce serves a useful purpose for the community.

For some time the idea of a Junior organization has been discussed here and tonight the discussions will take some form.

Dr. Jameson Talks To New Wilmington Rotarians On Korea

Dr. Wallace Jameson of the History department of Westminster college spoke to the members of the New Wilmington Rotary club on "The Shifting Attitude of Public Opinion About Korea" at the club's regular weekly dinner meeting Monday night.

Dr. Jameson, a graduate of Westminster in 1940, who obtained his Ph.D. degree in Edinburgh, Scotland, expressed the opinion that it isn't the question of right or wrong, but the question of winning or losing that seems important to the American public concerning Korea.

He thought that United States should attempt to make politics a respectable calling and suggest that the American public become more interested in its government. Dr. J. W. Creighton introduced Dr. Jameson and in closing mentioned that he thought a state school to train diplomats would be a good idea in this country.

Jacob Bumgarner was elected vice president of the club, and Walter Green and T. M. Cox named directors at the completion of the election of officers.

Foreign Correspondents Barred From Conference

WASHINGTON, March 27—(INS)—The government on Monday banned "Tass," the Soviet news agency, and other foreign correspondents from a highly technical conference involving security plans for a defense communications system in the event of armed assault on the U. S.

American newsmen were admitted, but were placed on their honor not to publish information which might be of value to an unfriendly nation.

The discussions hinged around a proposed emergency operating and alerting system for the nation's broadcasters worked out by FCC technicians and the air defense command in case of an all-out war or an armed attack on the U. S.

The proposed system was submitted to representatives from 3100 radio and television stations invited to the conference. On the agenda is a prescribed line of action each broadcasting outlet will follow during an air attack or other emergency.

FCC chairman Wayne Coy opened the gathering by stating that the American press was admitted for background purposes and to prevent "speculation" on government control of broadening stations.

The joint government-industry communications plan is classified as "restricted."

Of chief concern to defense officials and other conferees is the development of a system whereby stations may operate during an alert without providing navigational aid to the enemy. Security officials pointed out that radio signals make excellent beacons for enemy aircraft and guided missiles.

Had the Army taken the buildings, the fair, which usually draws more than a million visitors from the tri-state area, would have been called off.

Foreign Ministers Hear Address By President

By GEORGE DURNO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 26 — President Truman said Monday afternoon that the American republics must fight communism in Europe and Asia or face the mounting threat of Soviet aggression in the Western Hemisphere.

The president expressed hope that the Russian people and Soviet satellites will revolt "some day," but he warned that the present impasse cannot be solved by isolating North and South America.

Mr. Truman, opening the fourth meeting of the foreign ministers of the American republics, declared:

"Powerful and productive as the Western Hemisphere is, we cannot make it safe by building a wall around it."

His remark was seen as a strong appeal for more hemispheric aid abroad and as another reply to some Republicans who say that Western Europe must take more action before the U.S. makes further commitments.

To meet the danger to "our very existence," the president said the foreign ministers must take steps to improve hemispheric defense and strengthen and support the United Nations.

Only Course To Security
"That is the only course that can lead to security or peace or freedom for us or for men anywhere in the world."

He said a Communist victory in the Far East would be a "terrible blow to the bright promise" of the United Nations.

Asia's huge manpower reserve, he declared, could then be tapped to further Soviet expansion in the Western Hemisphere.

In Korea, he said, the free nations have shown their determination "to defend their ideals of national independence of human welfare and to try to prevent world war three."

Mr. Truman continued:
"If justice and order do not prevail in Korea, they will be in danger everywhere."

Priority for Defense
The chief executive informed the other American republics that defense production will have priority over economic development during the present crisis.

He pointed out that many economic improvements can be made, however, within the framework of defense requirements without stalling the program of Congress in the Western Hemisphere.

"It is essential to our security," the president said, "that we constantly enlarge our economic capacity."

He declared that many defense needs coincide with economic and social advancement. These include food, education, health services, roads, dams and power plants.

To Latin and South American demands for direct participation in the U.S. control programs, Mr. Truman said the problem must be solved on a cooperative and equitable basis.

Common Enterprise

"We must recognize that we are engaged, as good neighbors, in a common enterprise that is vital to our survival as free and democratic nations."

He said that essential civilian needs must be met and wild and speculative price movements must be prevented.

The president indicated that many creative developments will be shelved during the defense emergency but he insisted that "we must do all we can."

In his bid for a revolt behind the iron curtain, the president said that Russians and other peoples share the same aspirations of freedom and economic betterment as individuals in the western world.

He added:
"We hope that some day they will find it possible to turn their leaders from their present path of tyranny and aggression."

Despite the current crisis, he said, the American Republics are committed to provide for "the welfare of the many," and he added:

"We think in terms of the average man—how he lives, what he can buy, and the freedom he enjoys. These are the standards by which we measure our development."

Mrs. Willard George conducting. The following members contributed the answers: Mrs. Floyd Douglas, Mrs. Charles Henderson, Mrs. Clarence McKissick, Mrs. Floyd Witherspoon, Mrs. George Dawson, Mrs. James Kelso, Mrs. Carl Snyder and Mrs. Edwin Brandt.

Mrs. Willard George was leader of the devotional period and prayers were offered by Mrs. Charles Henderson and Mrs. Floyd Witherspoon. A solo, "The Sinner and the Song," was sung by Mrs. Floyd Douglas, accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Witherspoon.

The speaker, Curt Haase, general foreman, Christ Mission and the Good-Will Industries of Youngstown, was introduced by Mrs. George. Mr. Haase told of the great work that this organization has accomplished among the handicapped, the aliens and the ones who need rehabilitation.

The need for more workers was brought out by the fact that there are 1000 or more aliens who are taught languages and good citizenship by 100 volunteer teachers.

In concluding, Mr. Haase summarized that a great many handicapped people can earn a living and be of service to their community at the same time.

Defendant In A-Bomb Trial Makes Denial

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 27.—Julius Rosenberg, chief defendant at the atom bomb spy trial, insisted under lengthy cross examination Monday that he never engaged in wartime espionage for a Soviet ring.

The 33-year-old New York electrical engineer, in denying he ever received a gift of an expensive watch from the Russians, declared the watch was a gift from his father.

On trial with Rosenberg as co-defendants are his wife, Ethel, 35, and Morton Sobell, 34, an electronics specialist.

Rosenberg repudiated the testimony of his brother-in-law, David Greenglass, a former Army sergeant, that the defendant "Julius" had prevailed upon him to steal secrets from the Los Alamos (N.M.) atom bomb project in 1944 and 1945 when Greenglass was employed there as a machinist.

On Secret Project
The witness admitted he knew Greenglass was working on a secret project at the time.

Rosenberg said Greenglass' wife, Ruth, told him in New York in January or February 1945 that she was "worried" because her husband planned to steal stuff from the Army.

"I warned her he should not do it, that he might get himself into trouble," said Rosenberg.

U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol asked him what he thought Greenglass intended to steal—uranium? The witness replied:

"No, Parts."
Judge Irving W. Kaufman reminded Rosenberg that on his direct testimony he said he thought Greenglass intended to steal gasoline.

Taken Into Partnership
Saypol asked Rosenberg if it was not a fact that after Greenglass quit the Army in 1946, Rosenberg had taken him into partnership in a machine shop business in New York. The witness said yes.

"Knowing that Greenglass had once planned to steal stuff from the Los Alamos project, you nevertheless took him into partnership and never asked him about what he had planned to steal?" asked Saypol.

"I had no proof that he intended to steal anything," Rosenberg replied.

Saypol reminded Rosenberg he previously had testified:

"I owe my allegiance to my country. I will fight for this country if it were engaged in a war with any other."

"Did you ever fight for your country?" asked Saypol.

"No," replied Rosenberg. He added that in World War II he had a civilian post with the Signal Corps.

Threats Are Made To Senate Probers Hoover Discloses

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(INS)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover disclosed Monday that "threats of violence and intimidation" have been hurled at the Senate crime committee.

Prompt confirmation came from Chief Counsel Rudolph Halley and Sen. Hunt (D) Wyo., though Chairman Kefauver (D) Tenn., said he personally had received no threats.

Halley told newsmen his office received a telephone call from an anonymous individual who wanted to know when the committee counsel would be in "so he could plant a bomb and blow up the building."

Hunt revealed he received a threatening letter, postmarked Boston and "intelligently typed."

He said the gist of the letter was a warning that dire things happen to "those who stick their noses into other people's business."

NEW SUPERINTENDENT
YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 27.—(INS)—Edwin H. Gott today was appointed general superintendent of the Youngstown district operations of United States Steel company.

He succeeds John W. Humphrey who died March 17.

Gott comes to Youngstown from the company's South works in Chicago where he has been assistant general superintendent. In his new position he will supervise operations of the company's Ohio works at Youngstown and McDonald.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Head-On Collision

"I'm just going to have it out with her," said four-year-old Joanie's mother. "When I tell her to do something, she's going to do it—and at once—or I'll know the reason why."

Next door, 10-year-old Billy's dad kept him in his room all day Saturday because the boy wouldn't apologize to his grandmother for having talked rudely to her.

And down the street the Hamiltons were having trouble. Mrs. Hamilton was having a losing struggle with her three-year-old who wouldn't eat all his carrots.

How often we parents get ourselves into a head-on collision with a child? And usually, the struggle is about something that's not too important.

Are we really spoiling children unless we fight these battles? Or isn't it possible to avoid such conflicts without doing a poor job of being a parent?

By and large, children are reasonable. Unless they are pushed into a corner and if they are given a little time, they'll usually see things our way. This is true especially if we aren't asking them to do unreasonable things or if we have a little friendly patience.

Actually, too, the child has the advantage. Rarely can we make him do things that he resists strongly. And, if by sheer strength, we force him, the chances are that we only intensify a pattern of resistance.

John S. Meyers Jr. Continues Pioneer Work In Television

John S. Meyers, Jr., who was the first to demonstrate television in New Castle in 1948, to Dick Rentz of The New Castle News, is continuing his pioneer work here now, with his present innovation to eliminate all guess work in television installation.

An adjustable tower which can be scaled anywhere from 20 to 85 feet, comparable to the height of most antennas is used by Meyers to determine to the exact inch, the amount of antenna necessary for channel pickup.

Eliminates Guess Work
The tower serves to eliminate the guess work, sometimes accompanying the choice of antenna length, and is a part of Meyers' television "showroom on wheels", which ably demonstrates a picture inside.

Meyers, who lives at 413 Fairfield avenue, New Castle, is owner and manager of The Service Center, and began building and assembling sets here in 1948.

He was introduced to television by the US Navy Department of Aeronautics, for experience in the development of combat television and was in constant touch with the new field there for more than two and one half years.

REHEARSAL PARTY

"My sister and I are having the rehearsal party for the bride in our home. There will be no bride's luncheon or bachelor party, only the rehearsal party and that all of the bridal party will attend."

"(1) What is a rehearsal party? (2) Who should attend? (3) How should we decorate our home? (4) What form of entertainment should we plan? (5) Should there be a small wedding cake for the bridal table as the main decoration and should the bride-to-be cut the cake? Please give me whatever information you can on a rehearsal party."

Answer: (1) A party is sometimes given after the wedding rehearsal, which usually takes place a day or two before the wedding. It may be given by the bride's parents or by one of the bridal attendants.

(2) Usually it is a small party for members of the bridal party.

(3) You need go to no elaborate preparation and your house need not be decorated.

(4) At a party of this kind, no planned entertainment is necessary.

(5) Ordinarily light refreshments are served—for example, a buffet supper. You may have a wedding cake to give a wedding atmosphere but the bride need not cut the cake.

Question. Just recently I became engaged. We do not plan to have a party so we would like to know how to announce our engagement. Are formal announcements sent to family and friends?

Answer: Do not send out formal announcements of your engagement. You may, however, have the announcement appear in the newspapers; or you may, if you prefer, let the news travel by word of mouth as it is bound to do very quickly.

UNDER THE WINGS OF VETERAN United Air Lines pilots have passed a lot of air transportation history. The nation's oldest airline is celebrating its silver anniversary this year. Pilot Leon D. Cuddeback completed the inaugural flight April 6, 1926, carrying mail between Pasco, Wash., and Elko, Nev., via Boise, Idaho. The company has expanded its route from 480 miles to 13,250 miles, its personnel from 10 to 10,000, and its fleet from six single-engine Swallows to 135 multi-engine airliners and all-cargo carriers. Conference Of Deputies Still In Deadlock

PARIS, March 27.—(INS)—Western delegates expressed hope tonight that Russia will offer new proposals tomorrow to break the big four deadlock on an agenda for a proposed foreign ministers conference.

The fourth week of negotiations will begin at 4 p.m. (10 a.m. EST). The American, British, and French delegates last week told Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that he must agree to a "reasonable agenda" or abandon the whole idea of a formal foreign ministers' conference. Gromyko, while presumably awaiting fresh instructions from Moscow, has stood pat on his insistence that the big four discuss a reduction of armaments under "international control."

He also has insisted that separate time be given specifically to what he terms the "demilitarization of Germany."

The western delegates have accused Russia of trying to get a propaganda edge out of a "trickily-worded" agenda.

They want a discussion of the present "level of armaments," including what they term the disproportionate size of arms in the Soviet bloc states.

Speculation On Reasons Rita Is En Route To U.S.

PARIS, March 27.—(INS)—The Paris newspaper L'Aurore speculated today about two possible reasons for the sudden decision of actress Rita Hayworth to sail for America with her two children.

Rita left for the United States aboard the liner De Grasse from Le Havre at midnight Sunday, and L'Aurore conjectured:

The film star wants to separate herself from her present husband, Prince Aly Khan, on grounds that he is too interested in hunting. Her voyage may be connected with the appearance of former husband Orson Welles at Cote D'Azur coincident with rumors that Welles wants custody of his daughter, Rebecca.

The paper says that Rita "might have preferred to put 6,000 kilometers (3,726 miles) of ocean between little Rebecca and her father who is suddenly impatient to take charge of her education." Attendants at both the Paris and Cannes residences of the prince profess ignorance of Aly Khan's whereabouts but are expressing belief that he is in Africa. Latest published reports locate him in Kenya.

Rita had gone to Africa originally with her husband but on her return to the continent she said she had left the safari because the tropical sun was more than she could stand.

MIAMI—(INS)—A woman aviator has set a new altitude record for light planes. Caro Bayley, a 28-year-old aviatrix, reached 30,380 feet above Miami. The temperature at this height was 34 degrees below zero—slightly breezy for the Florida climate.

How to take the Work out of Housework

(With an electric water heater you can have all the hot water you need for housecleaning... for just a few cents a day!)

SPRING HOUSECLEANING? When you reach the bathroom, close doors and windows and then fill the tub with very hot water. Steam loosens the dirt on walls, makes washing them much easier!

WASH RAG RUGS in your washing machine! Use rich suds; let machine run about ten minutes. Rinse and wring with loose wringer... or rinse on line with garden hose.

(Your electric washer costs so little to use... runs an hour and a half for a penny's worth of electricity!)

(So inexpensive to give your home a cheery "light touch." Use a 100-watt bulb for 3 1/2 hours at a cost of just one penny!)

CLEAN LIGHTS are brighter lights! So frequently dust your shades, reflectors and bulbs. Occasionally wipe bulbs (not hot ones!) with clean damp cloth.

FOR A SWEET fresh refrigerator, wash inside with a lukewarm solution of bicarbonate of soda or borax. Wash metal ice trays with hot water to which bicarbonate of soda has been added.

(About 5c worth of electricity will "refrigerate" your food for a week-end!)

PENNSYLVANIA POWER CO.

Seeks To Limit Defense Allocations In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, March 27.—(INS)—Legislation which would limit civilian defense allocations by the state to a quarter million dollars unless "an atom bomb drops in Pennsylvania" was before the senate appropriations committee today.

Senate minority leader John H. Dent of Westmoreland introduced the measure claiming the 20 million dollar reserve proposed by Gov. John S. Fine for the 1951-53 biennium is not needed under present conditions.

Should the need arise for speedy acquisition of money, Dent pointed out, the commonwealth has authority to make quick loans under the "repel invasion" provision of the constitution.

He branded Fine's 20 million dollar proposal an invitation to "boondoggling" and said the governor's call for a one half of one per cent tax is not justified by the facts. Democrats are not opposed to the proposal to raise the corporate net income tax from four to five per cent.

Senator Fulbright Blames College Alumni For Corrupting Sports

Insistent Pressure For Winning Teams Cause Of Unnecessary Evil

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(INS)—Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark. charged today that college alumni are "corrupting" intercollegiate sports—and the students themselves—by their insistent pressure for winning football and basketball teams.

Fulbright let lose a blistering attack on the "mockery" of college sports in a prepared Senate speech on the ethical problems uncovered in his subcommittee's probe of influence, pressure and politics in the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

The Arkansas cited the "corruption" of amateur athletics as an example of what appears to be an immoral—although not illegal—trend in the national life and said the recent basketball fix scandals are a "by-product."

Former Grid Star

The 46-year-old senator, who was a triple-threat grid star for Arkansas University's Razorbacks in the 20's, accused the alumni of teaching college students "the cynical, immoral doctrine that one must win at all costs."

Fulbright said he found it difficult to blame the players involved in the basketball scandals, explaining: "They are but following a logical sequence of influence, beginning with the corruption of the sport at its source by pressure from the alumni."

Lose Amateur Concept

Fulbright made his brief but potent attack on college sport practices after describing conditions he uncovered in the RFC.

Fulbright said: "Our colleges, under extreme pressure from the alumni, have become so intent upon winning football and basketball games that they use any means to gain their ends. They hire players who are not bona fide students and thus make a mockery, a farce of the whole concept of amateur sport for the health and entertainment of our young men."

"They corrupt not only the hired players, but also the entire student body who learn from their elders the cynical, immoral doctrine that one must win at all costs."

"A by-product of this doctrine, the necessity for big money, leads naturally to betting and to the shocking episode of the widespread bribery of basketball players in New York. I find it difficult to blame the players. They are but following a logical sequence of influences, beginning with the corruption of the sport at its source by pressure from the alumni."

Sylvan Heights May Open Soon - - If Good Weather Continues

With the advent of nice weather, Sylvan Heights golf course could be ready for play within 10 days, it is reported by Sam Haycock, manager.

Up until Monday, however, it has been impossible to do any work at all on the course due to the weather. Mr. Haycock reports.

Fairways are still soggy, but if present weather conditions continue, should be dry enough for work to begin very soon, it is reported. The course appears to be in good shape despite the hard winter and a good season is looked for.

County Coaches Meet Officials In Game Tonight

Play Return Game At New Wilmington

Return match between the Lawrence county basketball officials and the county high school coaches will be played tonight at the New Wilmington Community House at 8 o'clock.

Dick Borowicz, manager of the New Wilmington baseball club, for which the game is being staged, announces the addition of John Milanovich and Austie Cowmedow to the coaches squad and Harold Burry and Buzz Ridd to the officials.

Art Alexander and Ray Nolte have agreed to officiate the game. All funds will go towards helping the New Wilmington ball club during the coming season. In the first game between the teams the officials won 50-46, behind the brilliant play of "Raggs" Genack.

Most of the players for both teams are local favorites of days gone by, many of them playing together in high school and college. In a preliminary game the Rose avenue Red Devils will meet the Wilmington Whiz Kids at 7 o'clock. Players are from sixth grade or under on both teams.

Hornets Need One More Win

Meet Springfield Wednesday Night

The Pittsburgh Hornets, sitting in the driver's seat in their American Hockey League Playoff Series, roar into Springfield tomorrow night for the one game standing between them and a spot in the circuit's semifinals.

Little Gil Mayer, the Hornets' "big man" in the nets, shut out the Indians, 9-0, last night for the second straight time. The Hornets, best defensive club in the league, turned on the power to down Springfield, 6-0, in the opener last Saturday.

Cleveland's Barons and the Hershey Bears are waiting on the sidelines after knocking off their opponents in other series. Winner of the Pittsburgh-Springfield contest plays Hershey for the right to meet Cleveland in the finals.

RECORDS ARE MADE to be broken and Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh Pirates, slugging outfielder, will break Babe Ruth's record if he can, he says in Look magazine. At the age of 28, Kiner stands alone in baseball as the only player who has a chance of breaking Ruth's 60 home runs which stands as the "Holy of Holies in Baseball's Cathedral of Records." Kiner says: "Lot of people might regard as a sacrilege. I don't. And a means to this end, the Blasting Buccaneers regiments his life to this purpose."

Maurice Nielson, general chairman of the Lawrence County Sportsman's association banquet, April 12, in the Cathedral reports there'll be plenty of good music the night men, women and juveniles who like fishing, hunting, and other outdoors life, attend the stuffed pork chop dinner. In addition to the address by Game Commission President Ross Leffler, there will be 100 awards made to those assembled. Some of the awards will be very valuable.

SPRING IS HERE, and along with the crocuses comes the big annual kill of wildlife along the state's highways. Usually every spring there is a heavy road kill of game, especially rabbits. There are several causes for this waste. For one thing, buds and other forms of spring food generally are available earlier along the roadways than in denser spots protected from the sun. Game also seems able to find salt and other minerals more readily near the highways. And, of course, during the mating season, game moves about much more freely than usual. Still, the annual spring road kill is regrettable, no matter what the cause, because it makes for a heavy loss of game to sportsmen. One small thing one can do: Drive carefully during this period, especially at night, and if you see game "frozen" in the road in the glare of your headlights, try switching on the dimmer.

WERE ONE A RESIDENT of Dallas, Texas, and he owned a television set he could receive televised lessons on how to golf properly. Ben Banks, a pro at a Dallas course, conducts a weekly television golf course—with dire results in some homes. One oilman, according to Banks, stated that his swinging club shattered an expensive overhead light. Another golfer knocked over a floor light. Manuel Ayulo will make his second bid for 500-mile auto championship at Indianapolis, Memorial Day. He experienced hard luck last year. Last season he crowded Ralph Pratt out of the starting field in the final myrtle of the final elimination program. However, mechanical trouble forced him to the sidelines during the early stages of the race. . . . Luke Easter, Indians first-baseman, who had an injured elbow, is participating in batting practice. . . . Georgetown U. has dropped football. . . . Some major leaguers, with aching arms, are asking: "What is this spring training under the lights for? To get trained or get the bucks?" . . . Jerry Priscilla, Eighth ward constable, now in Milwaukee, is here on a visit.

Kansas State - Kentucky Title Game Tonight

By KEN OPSTEIN (I. N. S. Sports Writer)

MINNEAPOLIS, March 27.—A doctor's report brought joy to Kansas State today and gloom to Kentucky for tonight's NCAA basketball championship game in Minneapolis.

Guard Ernie Barrett of K-State was treated for an injured shoulder and coach Jack Gardner was assured his leading scorer will be able to play.

Kentucky Star Ill

But forward Cliff Hagan of Kentucky suddenly became ill and was sent to bed with a sore throat after being given penicillin. The physician's diagnosis was: "A touch of flu."

The medical reports on the teams caused the early odds on Kentucky to drop and left the Southeastern Conference champs only an even bet to win.

Couch Adolph Rupp says his Kentucky squads have been favored in every other contest they have played since 1936. He will make no predictions other than to say the "game will be very close."

A poll among Illinois players resulted in an 8 to 4 vote for Kentucky. The Illini were whipped by K-State 91 to 72 two weeks ago and were topped by Kentucky 76 to 74 in last Saturday's eastern finals.

Expect 18,000 Fans

Illinois meets Oklahoma A&M for third place honors in the first game tonight.

A crowd of 18,000 is expected to witness the contest at the University of Minnesota's Williams Arena.

Kentucky won the NCAA crown in 1948 and 1949 and may become the first three-time champions in the 13-year history of the tourney.

Pettit Fails To Hold Cubs

Pirates Lose Coast Game, 4-3

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 27.—(INS)—Rookie Paul Pettit couldn't hold a one-run lead in the ninth inning yesterday, so the Pittsburgh Pirates lost a 4-3 ball game to the Chicago Cubs yesterday in San Bernardino.

Chicago socked four hits and scored three runs off the $100,000 bonus left-hander. Pittsburgh pulled a partial comeback by scoring one run in the ninth before Bob Borkowski stopped the rally by nabbing George Metkovich's drive near the fence in right-center for the final out.

Pittsburgh had led 2-1 prior to the Cub rally. Left-hander Bill Werle pitched the first five innings and did right well. He allowed one run and three hits and struck out four.

Win Church League Crowns At YMCA

Championships of both the A and AA divisions of the YMCA junior church league were decided over the weekend at the Y. First Baptist won the AA crown, edging Epworth 33-30, and Croton the A title, nipping Second U. P. 25-24.

Campbell-Smith Bout Arranged

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.—(INS)—Tommy Campbell, Los Angeles, and Calvin Smith, Philadelphia, collide in a 10-rounder next Monday in the Philadelphia arena with the winner standing a good chance of a shot at Ike Williams' lightweight crown.

Promoter Herman Taylor said all proceeds will go to the Philadelphia Fellowship Commission, a non-sectarian group.

City Soft Ball Officials Will Meet Wednesday

Wednesday night at the YMCA the city softball league will conduct its first meeting for the 1951 season and all managers and officials are asked to be present.

Present president Rocco P. Viganio has stated that he will help in organizing the league again this year but will not serve as an official as he has done in the past 10 years.

Bradley Tourney Commences Tonight

PEORIA, Ill., March 27.—(INS)—A sellout crowd of 8,000 fans will pack the small campus gymnasium in Peoria tonight to watch the opening basketball tournament sponsored by Bradley university.

Wyoming meets Duquesne and Western Kentucky plays the host Bradley Braves in the opening card of the eight-team tourney.

Syracuse faces Toledo and Utah battles Villanova tomorrow night.

New Castle Indians Thinking Of Training - Isn't It Spring

Whether or not the weatherman is aware of the fact—it is spring, come March 21—and the New Castle Indians are thinking of spring baseball training—but with the snow and cold, well—the coal dealers are happy anyway.

Three weeks from today and the Indians will be out at Flaherty Memorial field engaging in their daily drills under the watchful eye of ex-big league star hurler—Al Milnar formerly of the Cleveland Indians.

The weatherman will have to hurry and make up his mind how ever, or the boys will be training in the basement of the New Penn Hotel—and not on what you are thinking either.

Stockholders Meet Wednesday

The New Castle Citizens Baseball, Inc., stockholders will have their annual election of directors at the New Penn Hotel at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Fifteen New Castle baseball citizens will be chosen to handle the teams destiny. The present board of nine men was found not enough for such an undertaking, but it must be said that the nine men who served last year did a magnificent job against tremendous odds.

Interest in the Class C Middle-Atlantic League this year has been heightened by the appearance of two former big league stars in playing-manager roles—Al Milnar at New Castle and Pete Appleton at Erie. Appleton was formerly with Washington, the White Sox, Athletics and the Reds. He is a pitcher.

Mongiello At Lockport

Billy Mongiello, who handled the New Castle Chiefs here in 1949 will be the manager of the Lockport, N. Y., team it was announced. Mongiello intends to play third base, he informed his bosses.

It's about time for Carl "Buffalo" Cialella to think about his favorite subject—Flaherty Memorial field and he will no doubt be out there in a few days.

IODINE BASE

DALLAS—Brines produced in conjunction with oil are a source of iodine.

'Free Law Enforcement From Corrupt Politicians'

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 27 — (INS) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover demanded on Monday that law enforcement be freed from the grip of "corrupt politicians" and Attorney General McGrath promised to deal with the "shocking" situation exposed by the Senate Crime Committee.

Hoover disclosed that the committee has been a target for "threats of violence and intimidation." Chief Counsel Halley and Sen. Hunt (D) Wyo., promptly confirmed that they had received anonymous threats.

McGrath told the committee the public has been "stirred to its depths" by testimony about the underground operations which Hoover denounced as a "national disgrace."

Will Reconvene Conference

The attorney general said he will reconvene his national crime conference to seek a nationwide plan of battle against the hoodlum empire. But he said he opposes a permanent national crime commission which might "endanger our cherished liberties."

McGrath, under questioning by committee members, said the justice department is powerless to deport gambler Frank Costello to his native Italy because the only offense of which the reputed "Prime Minister of the Underworld" has been convicted is not a deportable one.

Costello's only conviction was for carrying a concealed weapon. After Hoover's disclosure of "threats" against the committee, Halley said his office had received an anonymous telephone call from an individual who wanted to know when the committee counsel would be in "so he could plant a bomb and blow up the building."

Received Threat Letter

Hunt said he had received a threat letter, postmarked Boston and "intelligently typed." The senator said the gist of the unsigned missive was a warning that dire things happen to those who "stick their noses into other people's business."

Committee Chairman Kefauver (D) Tenn., made public a telegram from Ambassador William O'Dwyer in which ex-New York mayor denounced as "a vicious lie" the sworn testimony of firemen's union official John Crane that he gave O'Dwyer $10,000 during the 1949 political campaign.

The FBI chief and the attorney general testified as the committee opened what may be its final week of scrutinizing the U. S. underworld. The committee is due to go out of existence next Saturday unless given the 60-day extension some of its members seek.

"Political Renegades"
Hoover, who bitterly attacked "political renegades" as allies of gangland overlords, testified that

—J. EDGAR HOOVER

"a prominent criminal and powerful politician" used to be driven around New York in a police car operated by a man who later became a deputy police inspector.

Hoover named the recipient of this courtesy as Irving Sherman, friend of Costello and declared by the FBI director to be "one of the most prominent criminals in the underworld" and a "powerful politician."

Sen. Tobey (R) N. H., immediately brought out that the committee is still looking for Sherman as a missing witness in the crime probe. Hoover said the Sherman incident was an example of the "skulduggery" which he said marks "disgraceful" association between underworld figures and some public officials.

Be Made Permanent

The FBI boss urged in the strongest terms that the crime committee be made a permanent unit of the Senate, so it can continue to arouse public opinion against criminal elements throughout the nation.

Hoover said the country is "in a state of moral depression" as a result of the crime committee's disclosures. He joined McGrath in urging the American people to declare all-out war against corrupt officials and the racket kings whose puppets, he said, "political renegades" have become.

Hoover asserted: "The solution of the crime problem is a simple matter. Enforce existing laws fairly and relentlessly."

"Only aroused and enlightened citizens can take the handcuffs off the wrists of honest law enforcement officials and place them where they belong, upon the racketeers, criminals, and corrupt politicians."

McGrath recommended that the committee urge governors of all states to probe the crime picture in their respective areas each year through citizens' groups, and pointed out that federal grand juries are being held available in each district for that purpose.

Supreme Court Refuses To Aid Suspended Writer

WASHINGTON, March 27 — (INS) — The Supreme court on Monday refused to aid screen writer Lester Cole in his attempt to win reinstatement to the Hollywood job he lost for defying the House un-American Activities committee.

The justices refused to review a Federal Appeals court decision ordering a new trial. He had won a District court verdict in Los Angeles in December, 1948.

Cole, one of the ten screen writers who went to prison last year for refusing in 1947 to tell the spy hunters whether they were Communists, was suspended by Loew's Inc. in December, 1947 because of his clash with the committee.

MANY REFUGEES

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 27 — (INS) — The International Refugee Organization said today that refugee resettlement in the United States rose to 9,626 last January, the highest figure in 15 months.

The IRO, a United Nations agency, said the prospects are good for a continued large flow of refugees to the U. S. It said it expects to resettle more DP's in Canada, Brazil and New Zealand following conclusion of migration agreements with these countries.
